2017-2019 VFGC PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

"Planting Today for Future Generations"

Dear Virginia Garden Club Members.

November is upon us and the weather has finally turned cooler. My hummingbirds left a couple weeks ago and my trees have shed all their leaves – it is definitely autumn. But my friendly bear is still around so I guess it hasn't been cool enough for her to go take her long winter's nap. While snow can be beautiful (for one day), I hope we don't have too much of it this winter.

I attended the fall NGC Board Meeting in September in Orlando, FL. It was an enjoyable experience with a lot of information sharing and greeting old friends.

All six Virginia Fall District Meetings were held during October and I was able to attend all. Each meeting was different, some had flower shows and all had wonderful programs. And wonderful shopping!!! Some districts had a separate short meeting with the Club Presidents. This was an excellent idea as the presidents shared the programs or projects that have been outstanding and they expressed their concerns. Major concerns are lack of people to take leadership positions and aging membership. If anyone has some magic remedies for these two problems, I would love to hear from them.

Grants to Beautify and Restore and Keys to the Future Grants were awarded. I don't know who all received these grants but I saw several heads nod at the District Meetings. Congratulations to all who received funding. As you are working on your projects, please keep wonderful records and submit for VFGC awards – submissions are due December 1 to the Districts – time is short.

Course III of VFGC Flower Show School was held in August. Landscape Design School Course IV was held October 1-2 at Lewis Ginter in Richmond and Symposium was held November 14-15 at Four Points by Sheraton in Henrico. Flower Show School, Course IV will be held February 25-28 at Four Points by Sheraton in Henrico. Landscape Design School, Course I will be held at Lewis Ginter in April. Consider attending these courses.

2019 VFGC and SAR Conventions will be held March 28-30 (South Atlantic Region) and March 31-April 2, (Virginia Federation of Garden Clubs) at the Double Tree by Hilton in beautiful Williamsburg, Mary Dixon and Loy Holt have been planning and have some wonderful programs – you won't want to miss either convention – come and stay for both.

A Blue Star Memorial was dedicated November 11, Veterans Day in Troutville, VA. This event was hosted by Fincastle Garden Club (Blue Ridge District). Piedmont District will be replacing a Blue Star Memorial, date to be announced. Moneta Garden Club (Blue Ridge District) will be placing one at the Smith Mountain Lake/Moneta Library, date to be announced. Congratulations to these clubs.

Stay warm and safe during the upcoming holidays. A cold winter day is a perfect time to curl up in front of a fire with a hot cup of tea (or coffee or hot chocolate) and a good garden book or catalog and dream of spring.

Happy Holidays,

Manty Bowen

Native and Heritage Plants

Submitted by Carolyn Nichols, Chairman

First off, what is a native plant? Native plants are plants that have evolved over thousands of years in a particular region. They have adapted to the geography and climate of that region. Native plants occur in communities, that is, they evolved together with other plants. As a result, a community of native plants provides habitat and builds a variety of native wildlife species such as songbirds and butterflies.

There are native and non-native species growing in the regions of Virginia. Native species occur in their natural regions without the direct or indirect activities of humans. A non-native species grows outside that natural range. In North America, many non-native plants were brought over for agriculture and ornamental purposes. Non-native plants continue to be a problem today. Some of these plants are a food source, however, certain species have aggressive traits that make them invasive species such as Kudzu and English Ivy.

Many non-native species will disrupt the natural growing habit of plants and will harm the native habitat. The aggressive growing habits of Kudzu is an example as it exhibits both rapid growth and reproduction rates and grows in most regions of our state. Also, some bamboo is invasive and spreads so easily it is getting into our forest and choking out young oaks and maple seedlings.

Generally speaking our native plants do not require fertilizers but fertilizers are applied to lawns and the excess phosphorous and nitrogen run-off causes harm to the native plant population.

There are many reasons to Plant Native: requires fewer pesticides; reduces water run-off; provides erosion control; helps to remove carbon from the air; provides shelter and food for native wildlife; and attracts a variety of birds, butterflies, and other wildlife.

For information on plants native to your area, contact your local Cooperative Extension office or garden centers in your area.

Penny Pines Update Submitted by Joy Poole, Chairman

VFGC is doing quite well this year as we continue to support the NGC project called Penny Pines, which provides funds to the National Forest Service to replant burned out, diseased, and flooded areas. We are proud that all six districts have made donations this year. For the first half of this year, VFGC was responsible for contributing $22,100 to various National Forests from the donations received. For the 3rd quarter, we have received over $13,500 so far. It is our hope that we finish off the year with a record donation.

Remember that the Penny Pines information and donation forms can be found under the National Garden Club web site. It would be helpful to mail your donations to National in early December so they may be counted in 2018.

Thank you for your support!! We are making a difference in our National Forests.

Care of Holiday Greens and Plants

Noon - 1:00 pm ...... VFGC 2019 - 2021 Board Meeting - Center Lounge

Submitted by Genie Cate, Shenandoah District Horticulture Chairman

Grandma and ancestors decorated only a day or two before Christmas, hence the use of fresh greens and fruit. Today many of us decorate at least two weeks before and want it to last through New Years. So start out by helping the greens last as long as possible. Make a fresh cut and split, not crush, the last 2 inches of the branch. Place boughs in warm water with a little preservative and keep in a cool place, preferably overnight, but at least for a few hours. Boxwood and Holly can be submerged in a bucket or tub overnight before using it. But ONLY overnight.....after that it starts to lose leaves. Add some glycerine to water to treat magnolia leaves and stems. Try to keep all arrangements and wreaths out of direct sun and very warm rooms.

On a scale of 1 to 10 here are some favorite greens: 10- Port Orford Cedar (a.k.a. Lawson cypress), a western green but takes the place of fern and lasts forever; 8- All of the firs and yews; 5- white pine; boxwood (unless in water/oasis.. then lasts well); Magnolia and Juniper; 2 - Hollies: 1- Mistletoe.....ugly and poisonous (Use preserved with neat little plastic white berries that stay in place. Looks even better than the real thing.).

For cyclamen: cool temperatures and a north or east window. They love cool bay windows or if you close curtains at night, leave between the curtain and the window. "Cycs" like to be moist but not wet. You rarely see the bulb above the soil line as they would prefer to growhalf of the bulb should be above the soil. Watering from the top then often means that the water settles in the middle of the bulb and it rots. So, best to water from the bottom up. Place the plant in a saucer and fill the saucer with water and come back in half an hour. If it is all gone fill some more until when you come back there is still water in the saucer. If a lot of water is left, pour it out, if just a wee bit, leave it. Use a good houseplant fertilizer, ½ tsp. once a week to keep it blooming until spring.

Poinsettias - their care can be summed up in one word. WATER. The plant is usually grown in a pot that is small for the size of the plant, so requires frequent watering. Wrapped in foil or kept in a decorative cache pot helps keep it moist, but again, be careful of standing water. The plants are also usually placed to be part of holiday decorations so expect to lose some leaves due to low light levels, but they should not lose all of their leaves. After the holidays start feeding a weak solution of fertilizer, repot if possible and place in a sunny window.

Virginia Landscape Design Consultants Council

Submitted by Judy Hodges, President - VLDCC

Members and guests visited Thomas Jefferson's boyhood home in late October. The weather was warm and sunny with just enough breeze to make it an ideal fall day.

Tuckahoe Plantation is in Goochland County, VA and originally encompassed over 25,000 acres. The current size is approximately 550 acres. Much of the property is in a Conservation Easement and the house and surrounding grounds are listed on the National Historic Register. The original home was built by the Randolph family around 1714. An additional center hall and south wing was completed in 1740, making the house an H shape. The house features pine and black walnut paneling with impressive carvings and moldings. Filled with beautiful antiques and rugs, it remains a stately home.

Because he was a widower, the original owner (Thomas Randolph) made an arrangement with his close friend Peter Jefferson. Mr. Jefferson agreed to become the guardian of Thomas Randolph's children upon Thomas' death, until such time as his eldest son was able to manage the estate. Further, Jefferson agreed to move from his plantation in Albemarle County to Tuckahoe Plantation to raise the children and oversee the plantation. Peter Jefferson, his wife, three daughters and two-year old Thomas moved to Tuckahoe and remained there until 1752. Thomas Jefferson and his siblings and cousins were educated in the one-room schoolhouse still on the property.

On our tour, we visited the house, the cutting garden, vegetable garden, herb garden, one of the three cemeteries located on the property, the kitchen house and held our VLDCC gathering in the stable. This was a truly enjoyable day and provided us with a great educational experience.

NOTE: The home is occupied full-time by the owner/manager Addison B. Thompson and his wife Susan. Susan (Sue to her friends) is the 'brains' behind the restoration and maintenance of the exceptional gardens. The grounds are open for self-guided tours and the house is available for private tours by appointment and may be rented for private events. The Tuckahoe Plantation staff was knowledgeable, friendly, and extremely accommodating.

Little Neck Garden Club Goes All Out for Arbor Day (T) Submitted by Jan Bradley (T)

Little Neck Garden Club members celebrated Arbor Day by honoring Sarah Stermer, a young environmentalist. After reading an article in the "Beacon" section of The Virginian-Pilot, they decided to support the Kellam High School senior whose goal was to increase the tree canopy in Virginia Beach and Haiti by planting 1,000 trees. In April the club donated $1,000 in Sarah's honor for The Urban Forest Fund and the Landscape Management Division of Virginia Beach Parks and Recreation to plant trees in Virginia Beach neighborhood parks and schools.

In August the club and city representatives met to finalize the selection and locations for the ten trees to be planted in Sarah's honor. Most of the trees will be planted in city parks with two going to Lynnhaven Elementary School. The selection of trees varies from Magnolia virginiana, Ulmus parvifolia "Drake", Ulmus Americana "Valley Forge", to Quercus shumardii.

Sarah is currently a freshman at Virginia Wesleyan where she continues her studies at the Greer Environmental Sciences Center

Town and Country Garden Club's Fundraising Activities (SW) Submitted by Kate Hibbits

October 2018 marked the  $40^{th}$  annual Fall Fling in downtown Wise. Town and Country GC has been a part of this celebration for many years, but participation this year was even more involved. At the recommendation of the Ways and Means Committee, the club voted to have a booth at the event as a fundraiser. The days just prior to the festival were busy! Members decorated the stage where several musical groups performed on Saturday and Sunday. Others filled decorated treat bags with items donated by local businesses to give to the festival's vendors. Some members planted mums and other fall flowers along Main Street.

The weather was a bit cool and damp on the festival days, but the club booth was still a success. Lots of potted plants, apple butter, books, and craft items were sold. Members also had an opportunity to tell visitors about the many activities of Town and Country Garden Club.

On June 7 at the King's Grant Farmers' Market in Virginia Beach, twenty-three children enjoyed making paper bag puppets and learning about the benefits of having bats in the neighborhood. The children's craft table was provided by members of the Lynnhaven Heritage Garden Club.

New Castle Garden Club's Annual Picnic (BR)

Submitted by Diane Givens

The annual New Castle Garden Club picnic was held recently with eleven members and guests attending. Held every August for most of the 79 years of the club's history, the potluck picnic this year was enjoyed at the Craig Valley Baptist Church pavilion with lovely summer weather and delicious food. A plant, seed, and vegetable exchange has become a picnic tradition. Herb clippings, daffodil bulbs, and fresh vegetables were shared by those attending this year.

Hoe and Hope GC (Sh)

Submitted by Sue Knight

Waynesboro's Hoe and Hope Garden Club has had a busy and interesting summer. On June 11, our Jane Whitesell presented a workshop on "line design" which was held at the Village Garden Center, Red Barn. Each member then made an arrangement using our new techniques.

July 9 we again had a fascinating and very enjoyable afternoon at the beautiful home and gardens of Jack Coward and Carol Shannon. What an amazing and georgeous display. Thank you Marian Thompson for arranging this wonderful tour.

Again at the red barn, Marian presented a program on August 13 - "Making a Succulent Living Wreath" with added instruction on drying flowers. What perfect timing with so much in full bloom and fall on the way.

Chesapeake Bay Garden Club's
65th Celebration was a Success! (T)
Submitted by Karen Luzuriaga, Photos by Roz

There was a lot of preparation for our 65th celebration. During the summer, Susan Brandli and Veda Watts created a large teacup made out of recycled tires, complete with teabag and sugar cubes. This was placed outside of the Transportation Building with mums placed inside. The week before, members cleaned up the gardens at the tavern so that everything would look lovely.

On September 20, Sharon Stieber conducted a workshop at the Northumberland Library to help members decorate teapots and saucers. Sharon advised us on how to prolong the life of arrangements and suggested the use of chicken wire to keep your arrangement in place. Everyone went home with many ideas and plans to create a centerpiece for the celebration.

On September 25, the celebrating began. That morning, under the direction of Susan Brandli, club members arrived early at the Rice's Hotel/Hughlett's Tavern Transportation Building in Heathsville. Tables were set up and beautiful; spring-like tablecloths placed on the tables. Some of the tables held old scrapbooks so members could see what the club accomplished in the past. Also, it was fun to see the changes that have taken place through the years. Roz Messing displayed a slide show that members could enjoy watching while enjoying their food and drinks. There were lovely centerpieces in teapots and saucers created by the members themselves. Let's not forget the Tavern Culinary Guild who catered the party. They displayed and arranged an assortment of finger foods that could surpass any English tea.

Linda Hixon & her arrangement with vegetables

The next meeting of CBGC will on October 23 at Festival Hall in Reedville. The meeting will begin at 12:00 with lunch provided by members. The guest speaker will be Zach Bradford. He will speak about the vanishing orchids of the Northern Neck.

Natural Bridge Garden Club (Sh)

Submitted by Diane Weaver

Natural Bridge GC has had the sorrow to see the passing of three of its former members this past year -Boots Jones, President 1995-1997; Jeanne Day, President 1987-1989; and Sarah Lanford, President 1967-1969. We will miss these lovely ladies and the many contributions they gave to all of us over the years. On a happier note, we welcomed two new members, Sharon Littlepage and Jennifer Young.

The club has been busy learning to "Show our Best" with the proper ways to make horticulture exhibits and floral designs.

We look forward in November to a guest speaker from Natural Bridge State Park as well as a trip to Milmont Greenhouse in December to explore and learn about their beautiful poinsettias on display.

2017-2018 An Outstanding Year for Red Hill Garden Club (SC)

Submitted by Marilyn Shorter, President

This year has been great for Red Hill GC but it has come and gone. Dr. Seuss once said, "Don't Cry because it's over, Smile because it happened". For us it has been an outstanding year. We are a growing, active, and community involved garden club with talented designers, and hard workers.

In September we had a wonderful workshop conducted by Mitzi Cassidy, NGC accredited flower show judge. Mitzi demonstrated leaf manipulation and the importance of conditioning flowers, plus she critiqued designs for us, and created several beautiful new designs. We also attended a design learning evening with Tennessee designers Greg Campbell and Erick New at the Farm Basket in Lynchburg. All flowers used in their creations were grown at the beautiful Pharsalia Plantation.

We attended SCD President
Deanna Schwartz's Keysville
Garden Club's NGC Small
Standard Flower Show at Ash
Camp Baptist Church in Keysville.
It was a beautiful fall flower show and well-presented show.

October we attended the SCD meeting in Lynchburg. The program was wonderful - Gardening for Seasoned Gardeners (that's us) presented by Bryce Lane, a lecturer from NC State University's Department of Horticultural Science. He is the host and producer of Emmy winning, UNC TV (PBS) "In the Garden with Bryce Lane".

October also included the Fine Arts and Flower Show at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, in Richmond, VA.

The remainder of the year is all community related - in November we will decorate Ebenezer church for the annual Community Thanksgiving Service and Red Hill for their Christmas open house; construct Christmas wreaths for the town of Brookneal; and close out the year with our Christmas gathering and ornament exchange at the Lavalette House in Gretna.

We look forward to the New Year to continue our focus on youth education by sponsoring gardening projects, maintaining our five local gardens, and supporting SCD.

Shenandoah District Spring Meeting

Submitted by Val Story

October 12, 2018 marked the fall Shenandoah District meeting at Waynesboro Country Club. The room was full with many members attending, and the great hall sparkled with chandeliers and looked festive with fall table flower arrangements created by Dogwood Garden Club. Thomas Jefferson Garden Club made the beautiful memorial floral design while Monticello Garden Club made the name tags and manned the registration table. There was an array of items for sale with pumpkins looking cheerful.

Joe Murray spoke about the wonders of trees with an emphasis on "no tree is an island". He was both knowledgeable and entertaining. President Jill Quinley thanked members for attending this meeting, and recognized Shenandoah as an exceptional District. Clubs have been active in many projects which Jill recognized.

The afternoon design program was presented by Brenda McManaway. She created five exceptional design utilizing interesting containers and greens from a friend, Rachel Yungman.
Many delighted winners received a design or table centerpiece.

The next District meeting will be March 18 at the Stonewall Jackson Hotel in Staunton.

Shenandoah District - Giggles and Gardens Submitted by Val Story

This fall Shenandoah District sponsored a light hearted calendar titled "Giggles and Gardening" for the year 2019. This was an important fundraising project to support our excellent district meetings with quality speakers and programs. Monies raised will also go to the scholarship and blue star memorial funds.

Twelve garden clubs supported this project by donating advertising funds and providing a group picture for their designated calendar month. They are Calfee GC, Cedar Run GC, Colonial GC, Dogwood GC, Glen Burnie GC, Hawthorne GC, Lake of the Woods GC, Luray GC, Madison GC, Middleburg GC, Monticello GC and Purcellville GC.

To date 375 calendars have been purchased, making this a profitable fundraiser. A huge thank you goes to the participating clubs and to all who have purchased the calendars.

Chester Garden Club Greens Sale And

Historic Holiday Home Tour (P)

The Chester Garden Club invites you to enjoy a historic home tour of the "Yellow House" at 3001 West Hundred Road, Saturday, December 1st. Included with the tour is a greens sale. Tour tickets are $10.

Think nearly 150 years ago and it is May in the little Village of Chester. A fierce battle is raging outside a little yellow house known simply then as the Winfree House. The woman who lives there approaches Colonel William Fowler of the Union troops with a fierce glare in her eyes, walked to the lane fence and, in a tone of voice indicating she was both angry and excited, ordered him to take the guns away and tells him to leave. The sound and blasts from the cannon are breaking the glass panes in the windows of her home. Bullets are flying about. He suggests that she go to her cellar for safety. She persistently refuses and is highly upset. Imagine this spunky woman telling a Union officer to leave and take his cannon with him? Only after the Union officer ran out of ammunition did he leave.

Today, the "Yellow House" is white and very much the same as it was in 1864. The furnishings include beautiful antiques and will feature a 15' fresh tree decorated with family ornaments and fresh designs of the Colonial period throughout the house. Greens sold will include swags, wreaths, kissing balls and bows. Parking is conveniently located at the home.

Hilliard Park Garden Club (P) Habitat For Humanity Landscaping Project

Submitted by Jean Fender

On a chilly, damp Saturday morning, October 27, with drizzle still falling after 2" of rain in the prior 24 hours, 19 brave people showed up to landscape the newest Habitat Home in Hanover on Harver Court. The new homeowner and his wife are from Burma in Thailand and have been in the United States for 10 years and have 3 sons.

The front of their house includes roughly 10' of plantable area in front of a porch, to the left and right of the porch approximately 18' feet and 24', respectively, of potential plantings. We planted arborvitae 'Smaragd' with its pyramidal shape, and bright, lustrous, soft deep green dense foliage; king's gold cypress 'Sawara' with its stunning golden, threadlike branches; and Nandina 'Firepower' with its attractive foliage. 40 bags of red mulch completed the beds which were outlined with variegated liriope.

On each side of the front steps we planted a Japanese holly 'Steeds' for its rich green leaves and abundant small, purple-blue berries in the fall and winter. In front of the latticework, we planted Siberian and bearded Iris and some daylilies and included variegated liriope along the front. We planted a crepe myrtle in the left front yard.

Total cost of the project was $310.74. Thanks to Richmond Council of Garden Clubs for reimbursing $250 of the cost, and to the Habitat Restore in Mechanicsville for donating 40 bags of mulch. Hilliard Park GC paid the remaining $60.74. The crepe myrtle, iris, and daylilies were donated by club members. A special thanks goes to 8 Randolph Macon students for their help!

Abingdon Garden Club Takes On A Garden Challenge. (SW)

Submitted by Barbara Smith

The Abingdon Garden Club recently changed its meeting place to the Jubilee House, a local Catholic conference center. The conference center is wonderful as it provides the club with a nice meeting room, a place to do "hands on" projects, and access to its kitchen and audio visual materials. The Jubilee House staff asked the garden club if it would be willing to restore the memory garden in front of the center. The garden was started in 2014 as a memorial to members of the armed services but had fallen into disrepair. It was only a 24 X 36 foot space and was enclosed by a driveway. We could plant some easy care perennials and shrubs ...it should be a piece of cake!

Club members Patte Redmond, Ikue Eng, Corann Kitchen, Fran Wall, Dianne Bisig, and Garden chairman Linda Wynne (with husband David) met on October 22 to clear the site. They began to dig weeds and hit asphalt about 10 inches down. The memory garden had been built on top of pavement!

This did not stop this intrepid committee. They cleared the weeds and started brainstorming. Plans are being drawn and, hopefully, work will be completed and we will have a picture of the finished garden in the 2019 fall issue of the ODG.

Little Neck Garden Club (T)

Submitted by Susan Driskel

October is nationally recognized as Domestic Violence Awareness (& prevention) Month and Little Neck GC of Virginia Beach wanted to show support for the victims of such abuse. We collected supplies for the Help

Emergency Response (H.E.R.) Safe Place, a local domestic violence resource that provides emergency shelter and quality care to adult and child survivors. We also wanted to add a personal touch for the residents. Our club's design theme for the October meeting was "A Thoughtful Deed" so members created individual small flower arrangements with an added emphasis on the color purple, the symbol of the movement. Shown below are Little Neck GC members with their arrangements.

Seeds Do Not Come from Stores (T)

Submitted by Karen Luzuriaga, Publicist

On October 30th the first graders at Northumberland Elementary learned where seeds come from in a hands-on experience. Linda Hixon organized the program and Chesapeake Bay Garden Club members visited the school carrying pumpkins and scoops. The program is based on the book, The Saved Seed by Brenda Moore and illustrated by Emily Lackey. The book explained where seeds come from, and how the pumpkin seed will grow into a vine and new pumpkins for next Halloween.

The students worked in small groups and scooped out the seeds from the pumpkins. The seeds will be dried out and planted in the spring. They will be planted in the school garden so the students can watch the seeds sprout into vines and then produce more pumpkins.

The club will visit again in the spring for the program, Ready-Set-Grow. Members will explain the parts of the plants and how explain the different parts of a plant that are food to eat. Flower seeds and pumpkins seeds will be planted.

As second graders they will have pumpkins for Halloween.
